Wild Trent Challenge

Rules

General

All participants and spectators must abide by these rules and any instructions or regulations displayed or given on the day of the event by officials.

1. Entry fees are non-refundable.
2. Entries cannot be accepted on the day to help ensure that the event is safe. We have an allocated capacity that the team must adhere to and the contact details for all participants must be held in advance in the case of an emergency.
3. All participants must write the name and number of a person to contact in case of an emergency (this cannot be someone that is taking part in the event with the participant) and details of anything that should be considered in the event of a medical emergency (such as medication being taken) on the reverse of their official race number, which must be worn on the front of shirts during the event. In the case of an emergency the event officials may use the emergency contact details participants provided to us at sign up and/or the emergency contact details on the reverse of their official race number.
4. Pregnant women, those with asthma, epilepsy, diabetes, a heart condition or any other medical condition which may affect their ability to participate in this event should consult their General Practitioner prior to signing up for the challenge.
5. Participants who are deemed to be under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs on the day of the event will be refused permission to take part.
6. All participants enter Wild Trent Challenge entirely at their own risk. Event organisers and their partners shall not be liable for any injury, death, damage or loss howsoever suffered by participants as a result of their participation other than in respect of any injury, death, damage or loss arising as a result of the event organisers and / or their partners negligence.

7. Event organisers and their partners take all reasonable steps to minimise the risk of injury to participants during this event. There is a stringent risk assessment process in place that aims to minimise or eliminate the risk to everyone taking part. However, by taking part in Wild Trent Challenge, all participants acknowledge that there may be conditions or circumstances beyond the event organisers and their partners control that can lead to unforeseen risks. If you have any concerns or queries please contact the Derbyshire Wildlife Trust before agreeing to take part in the event.
